BUSINESS MEETING

A business meeting for the election of new members will be held August 14, 1929, at Talbot Hall, 135 Huntington Ave., Mechanics Building, Boston, at 8.30 o'clock A.M. Some who aspire to become Nobles, and who haven't "cold feet," would much prefer the cool sands of Nantasket to the burning sands of the desert. This is the time for you to tell them the going is good. Petitions should be filed promptly with the fee of $75.00 and your candidate instructed to report at the place of meeting not later than 8.00 o'clock.

The Potentate's Message

IN THIS SEASON of ball games, week-ends and vacations, I hope that every Noble is having his full share of the world out-of-doors, enjoying the sunshine and receiving the benefits that invigorate and provide a lot of new pep.

It is the playtime of the year, and that we too may play together for a day, the Summer Outing of the Temple has been arranged.

If Mr. Dull-Care is bothering you, or your golf is below par, take the day off, and you will forget all about it; there is a lot in that little song that goes, "the more we are together the happier we'll be."

The day also gives you a wonderful chance to make a friend for life. We mean that you must know some one who wants to come in the easiest way and get the Shrine by a few kind words. Now is the time to give that assurance; our lusty Degree Team is off duty.

On reverse side of this page you will find a blank petition, and I want just as big a class of novices as we had at the last Ceremonial. I wonder if you know how much it really means to the Potentate to feel he has your support, and how convincing it is to have your activity expressed by securing new members. I thank you for what you have done, or may do, to keep Aleppo in the forefront of the big Temples.

It will interest you to know that the uniformed units — Band, Patrol, Mounted Patrol and Degree Staff — took part in the Tercentenary celebration at Lynn, Mass., on July 3, and by their general excellence won the Grand Prize for the organization making the best appearance.

Come up to the office and see the trophy.

I hope to meet you on the Steamer, or at Shore Gardens, on August 14, and will appreciate it if you will be good enough when you see me to say, "Hello, Potentate!" or, as I like it better, "Hello, Sam!" Let's get acquainted.

Yours for a BIG Lot of Fun!!

Sam Haskell

Recorder's Ramblings

Do You Employ Help?

Nobles: Many Nobles out of employment apply at this office for jobs. If any Noble needs help of any kind we will be pleased to furnish names of deserving Nobles. Help if you can.

We have a few green cards for 1929 — we would be pleased to exchange them for cash. You need the card. Aleppo likes the cash.

The Boy Who's Stubbed His Toe

Did you ever meet a youngster who had been and stubbed his toe,
An' was settin' by the roadside, just a-cryin'
soft and low,
A-holdin' of his dusty foot, so hard and brown
and bare,
Tryin' to keep from his eyes the tears
a-gatherin' there?
You hear him sort o' sobbin' like, an' sniffin'
of his nose;
You stop an' pat him on the head an' try to ease his woes,
You treat him sort o' kind like, an' the first thing that you know, He's up an' off a-smilin' — clean forgot he's stubbed his toe.

Now, 'long the road of life you'll find a fellow goin' slow,
An' like as not he's some poor cuss who's been and stubbed his toe;
He was makin' swimmin' headway till he bumped into a stone,
An' his friends kept hurryin' onward, an' left him there alone;
He's not sobbin', he's not sniffin', he's just too
old for cries,
But he's grievin' just as earnest, if it only comes in sighs.
An' it does a lot of good sometimes to go a little slow,
An' speak a word o' comfort to the guy who's
stubbed his toe.

You know, you're not so sure yourself, an'
there ain't no way to know Just when it's comin' your time to slip an'
stub your toe;
To-day, you're bright and happy in the world's sunlight and glow,
An' to-morrow you're a-freezin' an' trudgin'
through the snow.
The time you think you've got the world the tightest in your grip,
Is the very time you'll find that you're the likeliest to slip.
So it does a lot o' good sometimes to go a little slow,
An' speak a word o' comfort to the guy who's stubbed his toe.
